They did not know what to do. Then the genie had an idea. 'You need to go to the mountain to find the wizard,' he suggested.

Then they went to the mountain to find the wizard. They couldn't find the wizard but they found that there was a page that could make Eric become normal. It said he needed to crawl around fifty times around the mountain. Eric said, 'Oh no!'

In the afternoon, Eric was tired after crawling around the mountain fifty times. He shrank to his normal size.

In the end Eric was small again. When he was crossing the river, his legs were too short. So, he was drowning and needed help. Then he saw that at the bottom of the river there was a bottle. He swam down and opened it and drank the potion inside the bottle. After a while he had wings. He flew up to the sky and went to heaven.
