

An Unlucky Day

By 4C Sunny Man Yuk Ching

It was sunny today. Marco was in a park. He saw a cute stray dog. He put his violin aside and played with the dog.

It was time to go home. Marco thus left the park but he forgot his violin!

Suddenly, he remembered that the violin was still in the park so he rushed back to the park. But he just couldn't find his violin.

Marco was so upset because the violin was a birthday present from his grandma.

In the end, he went home sadly. But his mother wanted to help him so they went back to the park and finally found the violin on the bench! Marco was happy again!
