An Unlucky Day

It was sunny today. Marco was in the park. He played with his dog. He put his violin on a bench. He felt very happy. When he came back to the bench, he could not find his violin.

The violin was his birthday present from his grandmother so he felt upset. Then Marco told his mother and went to the police station.

Finally someone found his violin and sent back to the police station. Marco was very happy after getting back his violin.
