

An Unlucky Day

Wong Cheuk Hin Hinson

One day, Timmy was in the park. He played with a stray dog and he put his violin on the bench. He was excited.

Half an hour later, Timmy left the park. When he arrived the café, he realized that he forgot to take the violin with him.

Timmy ran back to the park quickly. However, he couldn't find his violin. He sat on the bench and he felt so sorry and upset because the violin was given by his grandmother as a birthday present.

Timmy decided to get back home and he told his grandma the truth. Surprisingly, his grandma took out his violin. Actually, the stray dog took the violin to his home after Timmy left it in the park. Timmy was so lucky.
