

An Unlucky Day

It was sunny today. Timmy was in the park and played with a dog. He put his violin on a bench. He felt excited.

After playing, he was tired. He left the park at half past five in the afternoon. He forgot to take his violin.

Suddenly he remembered the violin on his way home. He went back to the park. He could not find it. He felt upset because the violin was his birthday gift from his grandma.

He went to the police station and asked for help. A policeman helped him find the violin. Timmy got his violin back. He thought he was lucky.
